Introduction
This is an exciting time for the Town of Brooks. We’re a great place to be in the Atlanta region - our residents love living here, with public surveys showing excellent community ratings. Broadly speaking, a comprehensive plan is a way to guide investment, development and the allocation of services within a jurisdiction. But cities, towns and counties are complicated places, and they make decisions about the future every day, in response to new opportunities or unexpected problems. A Comprehensive Plan like The Town of Brooks’s Comprehensive Plan is one tool for helping to guide these decisions, with three distinctive features:

• It is long-range, looking ahead 5, 10, or 25 years
• It is comprehensive, looking across many different facets of what a Town does
• It is deliberative, looking within to understand the needs and desires of the Town

Most of the work of shaping the Town of Brooks’s future will be done by the residents, businesses, and nonprofits. The Town of Brooks’s government has a key role to play through these implementation tools:

• Regulations
• Capital spending
• Programs

The success of the goals of the Town of Brooks depends on being able to tap into the many voices of the town and weave their ideas, viewpoints, and thoughts into a common vision. Outreach and engagement were critical to reach a broad consensus of the diverse people who live and work in the town.

To meet the goal of an inclusive process meant creating multiple venues and opportunities to get involved. The planning team developed a number of communication tools and forums to ensure meaningful community involvement that would form the backbone of the plan.

A Steering Committee was convened to oversee the process and act as an instrument to guide the development of the plan. Steering Committee Members were appointed by the Town Council, and included the mayor and local business owners.

An Open House was held to allow for people to drop in to learn about the planning process. The Open House was designed which allowed for visitors to make a short stop to give valuable feedback to the planning team and steering committee.

A Community Discussion was held to further dive in the issues identified within the Open House and to assist in prioritizing feedback for the work program.

These inputs assisted the Steering Committee and the Planning Team in creating goals for Town of Brooks. These goals recognize that the Town of Brooks is a forward-looking community, engaged in shaping its own future.
Who We Are

The Town of Brooks is one of metro Atlanta’s smallest incorporated communities. Located in Southern Fayette County, Brooks is a rural crossroad community centered on 85 Connector. Fayetteville, the county seat of Fayette County, is 13 miles to the north, and Griffin is 15 miles to the southeast.

With a small population, the Town of Brooks has had a varied population over the last 15 years. Currently the US Census estimates the population of Brooks to be 547 people, which is a slight decrease from its 2010 population of 553.

The town is majority white with 44% of the population over the age of 45 and 24% of the population under the age of 20.
Population in Brooks decreased by less than one percent between 2000 and 2015. The sharpest decline in population occurred between 2000 and 2010.

Nearby population centers reflect trends similar to Brooks. The increase in population since 2010 and the growth of Peachtree City bode well for the area.

Housing within the Town of Brooks is all single-family. Currently there is about a 9% vacancy rate with around 12% of the houses rented. Housing prices are higher than the nearby cities of Griffin and Senoia. This may be in part because of the school system and the larger lot sizes within the town.

Transportation

The Town of Brooks is situated along the Highway 85 Connector. This road serves as the Main Street through the town. All other streets are local streets serving individual residential areas and are dedicated streets maintained by town. The 2017 Special Purpose Local Option Sales Tax vote, allowed the town to expand its capital projects with some key repaving projects and intersection upgrades, however large capital projects are limited in the future.

Fayette County is updating its transportation plan and is also in the development of a Trails plan. The town should actively monitor these plans and encourage citizen participation.

What We Heard
What We Heard

On February 17th, 2017, the Town of Brooks and the Atlanta Regional Commission hosted an Open House to get feedback on what issues and challenges that the residents and businesses within Brooks are feel that the town is facing. The community responded that the community-based small town feel is the Town of Brooks’s biggest strength. Residents felt strongly that Brooks is a quiet place within the region and Fayette County, and they strongly desire to remain that way. However, it was expressed that the Main Street area could provide some commercial and recreation services to residents. Residents expressed a desire for a community place to gather such as a bakery, or coffee shop to provide opportunities to engage with each other.

Residents also provided feedback on the goals and issues identified at a March meeting which was a conversation of the future of Brooks.

Growth
Assets, Challenges, & Goals
Assets and Challenges
Through community feedback and data analysis, the following challenges were identified within the Town of Brooks;
• How to manage growth while protecting the unique atmosphere that drew the people who call the Town of Brooks home
• How to manage parking in the Downtown area
• Provide opportunities for the community to get together
• With limited financial resources, opportunities for capital projects are limited.

To address these challenges the Town of Brooks can use the following assets:
• Brooks is a small rural town, that can provide a sense of community and place
• Sports brings people to the area and provides awareness of Brooks

Community Goals
The Town of Brooks is a diverse and forward looking community engaged in shaping its own future. The people of Brooks are working to capitalize on the qualities and values that have made it a successful community. These goals below seek to address those issues identified and provide a basis for investments and decision making.

• Create systems to assure the maintenance and enhancement of the town
• Improve the intrinsic value of the town through community spaces
• Encourage any new development to align with and support the town’s rural past
• Explore opportunities to strengthen citizen involvement in the government
Land Use
The Town of Brooks is characterized by a town center and surrounding agriculture and rural residential uses. Currently the minimum lot size is 5 acres within the town. However about 1/3 of the town’s parcels are smaller than 5 acres. Currently there is no sewer service within the town nor plans to develop a sewer system beyond the double septic tank system serving much of downtown.

As a first step in creating an appropriate development atmosphere, the town has developed “Character Areas.” These “Character Areas” are intended to ensure compatible and unified development within specified areas of the City. The Future Development Map is broken into the following Character Areas:
• Main Street
• Agricultural-Residential

Main Street
Main Street is comprised of historic properties, commercial uses, single family homes and institutional uses essential to the fabric of the community. Preservation of those historic properties that remain is important to Brooks’s sense of place. Any new development or redevelopment should be complement the historic nature and scale of Brooks’s Main Street.

Agricultural Residential
The Agricultural-Residential character area is comprised of properties on large lots. Residential properties in Brooks, range from one to five acre lots or more. Common open space and site amenities are not typical in Brooks, as residents appear to favor a less structured environment.
Plan Implementation
Plan Implementation

A key component of the Comprehensive Plan is to identify projects that the Town of Brooks will undertake to implement the goals of the plan. The following pages lists projects the town will undertake in the next five years as well as longer term projects that may not yet be fully developed.
